Makore™ now at Virginia Tech

When Virginia Tech's Special Projects Coordinator was given the green light to update their existing casework in the Veterinary Teaching Hospital, they turned to AMCASE® to bring both beautiful aesthetics and innovative design to better equip the hospital staff for small animal care and examinations.

The transformation was quite impressive and the results are paving the way to a better experience for everyone involved.

“Makore™ just works...”

THE CHALLENGE

Virginia Tech's previous exam rooms lacked the warmth and inviting atmosphere vets, staff and small animal clients were looking for. The equipment and supplies in each room lacked a sense of organization and unity, and several accessories were permanently mounted to the wall preventing any adjustments or easy replacements.

THE AMCASE® SOLUTION

Each exam room was outfitted with the Makore™ product line by AMCASE®, a wall suspended casework system that has integrated sinks, drawers, overhead storage, and a modular accessory bar for dispensers, sharp kits, and other medical accessories.
